

What Our Teachers Say

Lisa Newsom, who volunteers for the Women's program says:

"As a once-single mom who had very little hope of having an extraordinary life, I have been blessed in ways I never saw possible. I wanted to give back to women in need and found the perfect fit with Christian Women's Job Corps. I know education breeds confidence. Confidence breeds hope. Hope breeds peace. What I didn't realize when I started giving my time to women in need was how much I would get back."

Harold Teel teaches for Christian Men's Job Corps and adds:

"It is hard for me to imagine a more rewarding or exciting opportunity than the chance to participate as a volunteer for the Christian Men's Job Corps. As an instructor in the 'Jobs for Life' training course, I can see how it provides a unique job readiness that empowers the students to be successful not only at work, but at life, and have a new hope found in Christ."
